The U.S. government warn of three cases of people affected by the so-called “mosquito to make a woman pregnant with just a single bite”. The three cases have been located in Miami, Tallahassee and Beach. and those affected have been quarantined while the cases are investigated. It is unknown whether it is possible for the “chirulí mosquito” to reach the United States, but the authorities are already taking necessary measures to prevent more cases occurring. An appeal is made to all women of childbearing age who feel the bite of a mosquito to go immediately to their doctor to receive the Plan B, which is a contraceptive injection.
